Tipping is customary but not compulsory. Guides and drivers rely on tips as part of income, and camp staff pools are shared.

A common approach is a daily amount per guest for the guide and a smaller daily amount for the general staff pool, paid at the end of the custom luxury safari packages stay in cash. Currency flexibility helps: Kenyan shillings or masai mara luxury tented camp US dollars in clean notes.

Do not tip per sighting, and do not feel obliged to reward a guide who ignored safety or requests. Ask the camp manager how the staff pool works so the money reaches the people who served you. Guidance is at %LINK%.
