Discussing a story from class. Invite the learner to retell one part in their own words with the teacher's assigned source nearby. Let them distinguish a remembered detail from a question. Return to the source together to check one detail, then leave the learner's next question on the lesson card.

Using a translation alongside reading. Keep a translation available for a question about meaning, with the edition or translator identified. Give reading practice and discussion their own turns. Ask the learner to point to the passage under discussion and best online quran classes for kids describe which question the translation helped them explore.

Ask the learner which of the two activities felt easier and why. Refer to the example they actually tried when agreeing on a home-practice task.
