

Updating an address involves more than a single form with the post office. Several organizations need updated information to avoid missed mail, billing issues, or lapses in service. Manifest Moving Columbus put together this checklist based on common oversights clients mention after a move.

Government and Financial Institutions

The Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles needs an updated address manifest movers in columbus oh for a driver's license, and banks or credit card companies should be notified to keep statements and cards arriving at the right location. Manifest Moving Company recommends handling these updates before the move date when possible.

Utility and Service Providers

Electric, gas, water, internet, and trash service providers all need advance notice to schedule disconnection at the <https://www.bbb.org/us/oh/middletown/profile/moving-and-storage-companies/manifest-moving-0292-90025412> old address and setup at the new one. A Moving Company in Columbus OH often hears from clients who forgot this step and ended up without service for a day or two.

Subscriptions and Memberships

Magazine subscriptions, gym memberships, and any recurring deliveries should be updated separately, since these are easy to overlook compared to larger accounts like insurance or banking.

Employers and Insurance Providers

Columbus OH Movers recommend updating an address with employers for payroll and tax purposes, along with health, auto, and home insurance providers to keep coverage accurate.

Residential Moving Services That Include Planning Support

Manifest Movers in Columbus OH provide residential moving services that include planning guidance, helping clients stay on top of details like address changes alongside the physical move.

- Government agencies and financial institutions
- Utility and service providers
- Employers and insurance companies

A complete address change checklist prevents missed mail and service interruptions after the move. Manifest Moving Columbus helps clients think through these details early. Visit the Manifest Moving website for more guidance.