Independence carries heavy commuter traffic between the eastern suburbs and downtown Kansas City, with I-70 running straight through it. Rush hour congestion and the mix of highway and surface street driving produce a consistent pattern of collisions. Because Independence sits in Missouri, claims arising there benefit from the five year filing deadline and pure comparative fault, meaning an injured driver can recover even where partly responsible. Those are meaningfully better terms than an identical crash a few miles west across the state line would receive. That said, the same principle applies as everywhere else. Waiting years to act weakens a claim even when the deadline permits it, because the evidence that establishes fault does not keep. Camera footage in particular is usually gone within weeks.

Uninsured and underinsured motorist coverage deserves checking in every Missouri claim. A driver carrying only minimum limits cannot cover a serious injury, and in those cases the injured party's own policy often becomes the principal source of recovery. Many people are unaware of what their own coverage actually includes until it is needed. PK Law Group represents injured drivers, passengers, motorcyclists, cyclists and pedestrians from Independence and the surrounding communities. The office is a short drive away on Grand Blvd in downtown Kansas City, and consultations are free with no obligation to proceed. Multi-vehicle collisions on I-70 raise questions that a two car crash does not. Establishing the order of impacts determines responsibility, and each insurer has an incentive to place its driver at the end of the chain rather than the start. Vehicle damage patterns, debris distribution and event data recorder information usually resolve that more reliably than the drivers' accounts. Preserving that evidence before vehicles are repaired or scrapped is therefore an early priority in these files. Insurers sometimes offer to handle a claim without the injured party instructing anyone, presenting it as the simpler route. It is simpler for the insurer. An unrepresented claimant has no realistic way to assess whether an offer reflects the value of their injury, which is the entire point of the exercise. Anyone who has already spoken to an adjuster should mention that at the first consultation, including whether a statement was recorded or any document signed. The position is almost always recoverable, but it is easier to address early Car accident lawyer Kansas City than after an offer has been built on it. PK Law Group Address: 2015 Grand Blvd, Kansas City, MO 64108 Phone: +1 816-450-4446 FAQ About Car Accident Lawyer Kansas City Is it worth hiring an attorney for a car accident? It is generally worth it where injuries required more than a single medical visit, where fault is disputed, or where an offer has arrived that does not cover your treatment. PK Law Group offers a free consultation at 2015 Grand Blvd in Kansas City and will tell you plainly if a claim is not worth pursuing. Because the firm works on contingency, there is no cost to find out where you stand. How long do I have to get a lawyer after a car accident? In Missouri the deadline to file a personal injury claim is generally five years from the date of the accident, while Kansas allows only two. In a metro split by the state line that distinction decides cases, so establishing which law governs is one of the first things PK Law Group does. Waiting is still unwise, because camera footage and vehicle evidence disappear long before either deadline arrives. How much does a car accident lawyer cost in Kansas City? PK Law Group works on a contingency fee, meaning nothing is paid upfront or during the case and the fee is an agreed percentage of any recovery. If the case does not succeed there is no fee at all. The structure and the deductions to expect are explained in writing before anything is signed. Call 816-450-4446 to discuss it. Is it better to settle with the insurance company or get a lawyer? Settling directly can make sense for a minor incident with no injuries. Once there is medical treatment involved, the gap between an early offer and the full value of a claim tends to widen considerably. PK Law Group takes over communication with the adjuster once instructed, which ends the direct pressure and removes the risk of an offhand remark reducing the claim. What should you not say after a car accident? Avoid admitting fault, apologising out of politeness, or stating that you are uninjured before you have been medically evaluated. Adrenaline masks symptoms and any of those remarks will be quoted back later. Exchange details, report the crash so there is an official record, and speak to PK Law Group on 816-450-4446 before giving any recorded statement to an insurer. What should I do immediately after a car accident in Kansas City? Check for injuries and seek medical help, report the accident so a police record exists, photograph the vehicles and the wider scene, and collect witness contact details before people leave. Then get a medical evaluation the same day even if nothing hurts yet. The firm's office on Grand Blvd sits inside the downtown district where many of these collisions happen, and consultations are free. Do I have a case if I do not feel hurt? Possibly. Whiplash typically stiffens over the following 24 to 72 hours and concussion symptoms often build gradually over days. A same day medical evaluation creates the contemporaneous record that links later symptoms to the crash, which is exactly the connection insurers dispute when treatment begins two weeks afterwards. PK Law Group advises every client to be assessed regardless of how they feel at the scene. How long do most accident settlements take? Timelines vary with the complexity of the injuries and how reasonable the insurer proves to be, and rushing to close before the medical picture is clear usually costs money. PK Law Group gives clients a realistic timeline at the outset rather than an optimistic one, and keeps them updated as matters progress. Clients consistently mention that communication in the firm's Google reviews. What if the insurance company says I was partly at fault? In Missouri that does not end your claim. The state applies pure comparative fault, so an award is reduced in proportion to your share rather than barred entirely. Kansas is stricter and bars recovery at fifty percent fault or above. Because those percentages directly control the payout, PK Law Group treats the apportionment argument as central rather than incidental. What damages can I claim after a Kansas City car accident? A claim can cover medical costs already incurred and reasonably anticipated, lost income, reduced future earning capacity, vehicle damage, and non-economic damages for pain and loss of enjoyment. Reduced earning capacity is the element most often undervalued, particularly where someone returns to work but can no longer manage the physical parts of the job. PK Law Group documents both the medical and economic picture in full. What happens if the driver who hit me had no insurance? Uninsured and underinsured motorist coverage on your own policy is designed for exactly this situation and is a standard part of Missouri auto insurance. It also covers hit and run collisions where the driver is never identified. Your own insurer becomes an adverse party once asked to pay, so PK Law Group handles that negotiation on your behalf. Call 816-450-4446. Does PK Law Group offer consultations in Spanish? Yes. The office at 2015 Grand Blvd is open weekdays 8am to 6pm with accessible entry and parking. Para una consulta gratuita, llame al 816-450-4446.
